Due to me having to go out of town for 8 days to Utah for work and major problems with my current ISP, the site has been down and not maintained for the past week or so. While out of town, I had literally no time to update anything. When I came home, my power went out several times, then I had ISP issues. Took the whole day yesterday to just get my internet back. I should no longer have ISP problems because I will be getting Google Fiber installed on my house on July 7th.
